I think the entire lawsuit against MicroSoft was outrageous. It was something out of ATLAS SHRUGGED the government deciding that one man s ideas and products belong to the masses. WRONG my ideas and thoughts are mine. And I am not REQUIRED to share them with anyone. Before I do that I ll go on strike. Had MicroSoft had the sand they should have closed their doors and let the world live without what they developed and their proprietary knowledge and products. But apparently Bill Gates is not John Galt and I never expected him to be. But I think he should have given the world a lesson in how techonolgy would be without MicroSoft s various innovations and research.
